A new city is born in the geography of imagination.
The cities are in constant movement; they have more and more inhabitants coming from other cultures, with other life styles, other literatures, other stories.
Different traditional stories from different places live together in La ciudad inventada.
Just like what happens with people, they have contacts with each other, they mix and are embellished…giving way to a modern, hybrid story.
The company Panduro Producciones was founded in Extremadura in 2007 by a group of enthusiastic and devoted professionals of the performing arts. Their productions seek to establish a dialogue with children and adults about universal themes , through the emotions that accompany us from childhood and are part of our personal growth.
