Splinky is a little man imprisoned by the demon of his loneliness who mitigates his sadness by clinging to the memories of his past, which he collects in a huge trunk. He lives with the delusion that his old love still exists, and every day he is more and more in love with a pile of old, lifeless junk. Sirius is his guardian angel, specialised in listening. He will soon get our clown to connect with the present. Following a deep awakening, Splinky will succeed in saying goodbye to his past, transform himself and start a new life.

A graduate of the International Theatre School of Rome, in 2008 Piero Partigianoni began to specialise in clowning. After founding several companies in Italy, Ibiza and Granada, which have been recognised with numerous national and international
