Malebable is a sensorial show of movement. Body and objects dance together, creating poetic images. A journey through sensations, through the senses. An adventure of perception by means of textures, of tact.
What could there be inside a piece of paper? Is it really a piece of paper, or a mountain? Can a piece of paper and plastic have a conversation?
Helena Lizan, choreographer from the Basque country, has presented her work at different international events, including amongst others the Mercat de les Flors in Barcelona, JulyDans Festival in Amsterdam, Judson Church Dance Theater in New York. For many years, she has been collaborating in educational projects through dance and the creation of shows for children.
