Juan and Laura. Laura and Juan. Two polar opposites who, of course, are in love. They met in high school, and meet again in the midst of the eternal 30s life crisis. In the course of one night memories and dreams succeed each other, while spectators pass from laughter to reflection: Did we grow up too fast? Or haven't we grown up at all? Are we children wearing the clothes of adults? Or adults desperately trying to be children again? What does life expect of us? This life of dreams, and laughter, and tears, and silences, and ways of looking, and lack of love, and excess of love, and impossible love.
