Joel and Daniela decide to get divorced after many years of marriage. Trapped in a lift at the courthouse, they reflect on their life together, giving rise to amusing situations, surrealistic characters and original songs that reveal everything that usually remains unsaid in a relationship.
This is a musical comedy with unexpected dramatic turns in which spectators discover, with the help of the main characters, that love cannot be the subject of reflection… Love is felt, experienced and sung.
Lo nuestro estaba cantado is the work of a group of professionals devoted to musical theatre, with more than twenty years of experience in the genre, who dreamed of bringing this project to all the theatres of Spain.
